

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election shows a wanton disregard for the public interest which broadcasters are pledged to serve. I saw a discussion on TV in which a Sinclair spokesman claimed that the anti-Kerry piece is "news". It is clearly not; rather it's an attack ad that Sinclair is running free of charge to further their private political agenda. Too much media consolidation leads to giant corporations who think they are answerable to no one and nothing except the bottom line. This action by Sinclair is totally irresponsible. The airwaves are supposedly publically owned. Do we want a society where TV stations are propaganda machines? Not in my America !!

Thank you for considering the public interest and traditional American values.

Tom McDermott